

[CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7.(

is in the present? Do not all national banks, though nominally distinct, really have a common fountain-head in government? Does not all their currency come from government? Suppose all these banks, instead of being independent institutions, were an organized system, having a common head, as the banks of New York city virtually have in the Clearing Hosle, would not that be a condition so nearly related to the system which would be required as to show its entire practicability?

Indeed, there is scarcely need that there should be a new department inaugurated to bring such a currency home to the people. Perhaps there never was a system operated in which there was less proportionate loss through its executive officers than in our postal system. And this is because the responsibility comes home to the people. The postmaster is always a resident of the place in which he officiates, and, either with or without a civil service law, should be the appointee of the citizens whom he is to serve; and, of course would be a person possessing their special confidence. To such persons might the care of the public money well be intrusted; and in all places except cities a single person could perform both the services of postmaster and of United States financial agent.

Means can be easily devised to make all post-offices offices for loaning, as they now sell post-office stamps and money

In all that I have said my only purpose has been to en deavor to arrive at a proper understanding of the most important feature of governmental justice and uniform equityamong all the people. All past systems have failed to secure this. The world has constantly witnessed the proceeds of the labors of the millions aggreyated in the hands of the few. This advantage which one class has possessed over another cannot long exist under the rapid spread of intelligence which markes the present generation; and it behooves this people to give due consideration to any scheme which proposes to lessen this advantage. And most especially does it become the duty of the people, if there he such a thing as principles of finance, to find them out and cause them to be practically applied.

In fine, and to resume: the idea of money must first be separated from that of the intrinsic value of gold, or any other commodity, and confined to the mere capacity of representing all commodities, and so of facilitating the exchanges of wealth. This, it has been abundantly demonstrated, can be as well, and for various reasons, better done by strips of paper, properly stamped and signed, than by gold or any other metal.

In the next place, these strips of paper, signed by the gov ernment, with the credit and wealth of the whole country, are better than individual promises; though the issuance of individual promises should not and need not be prohibited, as we do not now prohibit anybody from making or receiving private notes, drafts and checks.

Again, the government money need not be redeemable. but only convertible into new strips of paper when the old ones are worn out, and into commodies when they are used in trade, and into other government securities bearing intorest, as I have pointed out.

Still again, money has also been held to be a correct measure of values. This it ought to be, indeed, but has never been so, because it has never been measured itself. Of what use would yard-sticks be, used for measuring cloth, but which had never themselves been measured by anything? The system which I have stated for measuring money itself is believed to be perfect. It is not the individual dollar, relatively to the half dollar or the hundred dollars, that has failed to be measured or fixed, but the rate of increase relatively to other values, of all the government currency affoat. By the convertibility of any excess of issue sinking its value below a certain standard into interest-paying bonds, any over-issue is immediately absorbed, while a deficiency of isand will be revealed by the fact that absolutely no bonds be sold. In this manner the whole operation will be selfadjusting from day to day; the value of the aggregate of government money will be accurately measured and kept uniform; and any interest or temptation which the government might have to an over-issue would be immediately nontralized by the absorption of such surplus into bonds. upon which the government itself would be paying inupon which the government itself would be paying in-torest; or, in other words, assuming an unnecessary and useless burden, in the face of the people and of its own conomics. Can anything more perfect be dovised! If so, let us have it by all means; if not, let this device be adopted. A solf-adjusting, aff-regulating admeasurement of the value of money would make it a frue measure of other values, and is a suggestion which, if it can be seenred, is of unequaled importance.

Another somewhat shullar idea was glanged at in passing quire the shedding of whole rivers of human blood and the destruction of the best evidences of our civilization, for which we have a perfect right to feel the greatest admira-

A timely understanding of the money question would guarantee predisely the reverse of all this, and cause humanity to take still greater and more rapid strides toward that perfect enlightenment which can alone thoroughly recognize the common brotherhood of the human race, toward which end all reform should be directed.

BUSINESS EDITORIALS.

RAILROADS AND THEIR APPOINTMENTS.

There are various opinions regarding the several great railroad lines which connect the Metropolis of America with the great West-north and south. The chief end that seems to have been aimed at is speed, and some roads have been so absorbed in this as to have entirely overlooked the matter of comfort, which to all but persons traveling on business purely, is an important item. One of the main lines at least, and we think two, and they the so-called popular lines, have been wonderfully negligent in some things of great value to the general public. There is, how ever, one route West, the Baltimore and Ohio, which has given special attention to all the requirements of the traveler speed, comfortable cars and well-manage leating-houses, which last is a cause of great complaintupon some other roads that make greater pretensions than this route makes, Its management works in a quiet, unostentatious manner, and, especially since completing its new and quick Chicago connection westward from Parkersburg, has taken a firm hold upon the traveling public, and is obtaining its full quota of the public patronage. In point of time, its Western connections compare favorably with any route, while in many things it is superior to all other routes.

KURTZ' RESTAURANTS.

Among the many permanent institutions of the city are the several restaurants of Mr. Fred. Kurtz, located at 23 New street, 60 Broadway, 76 Maiden lane and at the corner of Fifth avenue and Ninetieth street. Undoubtedly Kurtz excels all competitors in the conduct of a first class eatinghouse. Besides being thoroughly versed in stocking his store-rooms, he understands just how to please the general palate in the preparation of his dishes. Success is the best test of merit, especially in this business; and if Kurtz merit is to be so tested, he stands pre-eminent over all other caterers. Each of the above places will accommodate from one to two hundred persons, and all of them, at almost any hour of the day, are filled. Strangers, visitors and residents will find Kurtz' the most satisfactory, as well as cheapest, first-class cating establishments in the city; while those who visit Central Park should not fail to call at the new and elegant retreat at the corner of Ninetieth street,

QUARTERLY MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Meeting will be held under the auspices of the Indiana State Association of Spiritualists at Oxford, Benton Co., Indiana, commencing Friday, September 12th, 1873, at 74 o'clock P. M., and contiming over Sunday. Come one and all.

If any of the friends, on arrival at the depot, are not met by the Committee of Arrangements, they will proceed at once to the Ohio House, or Treasurer's office, where they will be cared for.

J. R. BCELL,

Secretary of Indiana State Association of Spiritualists,

THE undersigned, feeling that the times are ripe for a ocial club in this city, invites those who are of like mind to communicate with her, with a view to securing a suitable place for weekly meetings, for mutual improvement and social enjoyment, and with a hope of ultimately organizing a unitary home. Address. E. M. BECKWITH, Station D.

HEALING by laying on hands, at 97 Clinton Place, by I. A. Edminster, of Boston, All female diseases successfully treated; the best of reference can be given.

Patients visited at their homes, or treated by Magnetic

IOWA SPIRITUALISTS

The Spiritualists of lown will hold their I Convention, at their Hall, in Walnut street, De Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 3, 4.1 mencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Good speakers will be in attendance, and good test medium. The friends at Des Moines care of visitors.

So come on, all friends of the cause, speaker and everybody else, and let us make the o worthy of our good cause. J. P. DAY

J. SWAIN, Sec y.

Des Moines, Iowa, August 20, 1873.

QUARTERLY MEETING NOTICE

The first quarterly meeting of the Weste Woman's Emancipation Society will be held at salist Church, in Parkman, commencing on Sat 6, at 10 A. M., to continue two days. D. M. Alle Cowles, Sarah L. S. Philleo, J. H. Philleo, Fr and others will address the meeting.

The platform will be free to opponents, but t will not be diverted from the objects to which is devoted—namely, "The absolute freedom through the overthrow of the popular system of Friends expecting to come on the cars will that Garretsville, on the Mahoning branch of t and Great Western Railrond, is the nearest st hack from Garrettsville to Parkman (6 miles) co trains both east and west, which meet at Gar 9 A. M.

The Free Lovers of Parkman will entertain from a distance to the fullest extent of their abil

By order of the Executive Committee,

FRANCIS BA

A NEW HYGIENIC INSTITUTION

We call the attention of our renders to the ad-(in another column) of "Champion Cure and Li tute," at Carversville, Bucks Co., Pa.

It is matter of congratulation that we now ha tution founded upon the true philosophy, and e from sectarian bias.

We are assured by the character of the men engaged in the present undertaking at Carversy as by the direct encouragement of spirit friend germ there planted is to grow apace, and to bec ample of success to foster the establishment of si tutions.

NEW MEDIUMS IN THE FIELD.

Mrs. S. S. Baldwin and the Dormand Bros. have cluded a series of wonderful scances in New Orl which were well attended and highly satisfactor young men are as yet mere novices, with unsurpass yet no mediumistic experience, and with but li appreciation of their, as I regard it, great I Miss Crosny, whose card will be found in ano continues at 316 Fourth avenue. Those who visit highly of her mediumship.

SPIRITUALISM IN NEW YORK.

Mrs. Katie Robinson, a first-class test, and bu dium from Philadelphia, will be at 316 Fourth aven weeks only. Harry Bastian, one of the best phys ums, will be here in a few days, and beat all the Ru ghosts.

REFORMATORY LECTURERS.

C. Fannie Allyn, Stoucham, Mass. C. Fannie Altyn, Stoneham, Mass.
J. I. Arnold, Clyde, O.
J. O. Barrett, Battle Creek, Mich.
Mrs. Jf. F. M. Brown, National City, Cal.
Warren Chase, St. Louis, Mo.
Mrs. Jennette J. Clark, Montpelier, Vt.
Prof. J. H. Cook, Columbus, Kan.
A. Briegs Davis, Clinton, Mass.
Miss Nellio L. Davis, South Billerica, Mass.
Lizzie Doten, Pavilion, 57 Tremont street, Basto
Mrs. L. E. Drake, Plainwell, Mich.
R. G. Leeles, Andover, Ohio.

[CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7.0

is in the present? Do not all national banks, though nominally distinct, really have a common fountain-head in government? Does not all their currency come from government? Suppose all these banks, instead of being independent institutions, were an organized system, having a common head, as the banks of New York city virtually have in the Clearing House, would not that be a condition so nearly related to the system which would be required as to show its entire practicability?

Indeed, there is scarcely need that there should be a new department inaugurated to bring such a currency home to the people. Perhaps there never was a system operated in which there was less proportionate loss through its executive officers than in our postal system. And this is because the responsibility comes home to the people. The postmaster is always a resident of the place in which he officiates, and, either with or without a civil service law, should be the appointee of the citizens whom he is to serve; and, of course, would be a person possessing their special confidence. To such persons might the care of the public money well be intrusted; and in all places except cities a single person could perform both the services of postmaster and of United States finaucial agent.

Means can be easily devised to make all post-offices offices for loaning, as they now sell post-office stamps and money-orders.

In all that I have said my only purpose has been to en deavor to arrive at a proper understanding of the most important feature of governmental justice and uniform equity-among all the people. All past systems have failed to secure this. The world has constantly witnessed the proceeds of the labors of the millions aggregated in the hands of the few. This advantage which one class has possessed over another cannot long exist under the rapid spread of intelligence which markes the present generation; and it behooves this people to give due consideration to any scheme which proposes to lessen this advantage. And most especially does it become the duty of the people, if there he such a thing as principles of finance, to find them out and cause them to be practically applied.

In fine, and to resume: the idea of money must first be separated from that of the intrinsic value of gold, or any other commodity, and confined to the mere capacity of representing all commodities, and so of facilitating the exchanges of wealth. This, it has been abundantly demonstrated, can be as well, and for various reasons, better done by strips of paper, properly stamped and signed, than by gold or any other metal.

In the next place, these strips of paper, signed by the government, with the credit and wealth of the whole country, are better than individual promises; though the issuance of individual promises should not and need not be prohibited, as we do not now prohibit anybody from making or receiving private notes, drafts and checks.

Again, the government money need not be redeemable, but only convertible into new strips of paper when the old ones are worn out, and into commodies when they are used in trade, and into other government securities bearing interest, as I have pointed out.

Still again, money has also been held to be a correct measure of values. This it ought to be, indeed, but has never been so, because it has never been measured itself. Of what use would yard-sticks be, used for measuring cloth, but

quire the shedding of whole rivers of human blood and the destruction of the best evidences of our civilization, for which we have a perfect right to feel the greatest admirtion.

A timely understanding of the money question would great and the reverse of all this, and cause humanity to take still greater and more rapid strides toward the perfect enlightenment which can alone thoroughly recognize the common brotherhood of the human race, toward which end all reform should be directed.

BUSINESS EDITORIALS.

RAILROADS AND THEIR APPOINTMENTS.

There are various opinious regarding the several great railroad lines which connect the Metropolis of Americ with the great West-north and south. The chief end that seems to have been aimed at is speed, and some roads hav been so absorbed in this as to have entirely overlooked th matter of comfort, which to all but persons traveling o business purely, is an important item. One of the mai lines at least, and we think two, and they the so-called popular lines, have been wonderfully negligent in som things of great value to the general public. There is, how ever, one route West, the Baltimore and Ohio, which ha given special attention to all the requirements of the travele -speed, comfortble cars and well-managed eating houses which last is a cause of great complaint upon some other roads that make greater pretensions than this route makes Its management works in a quiet, unostentatious manuer and, especially since completing its new and quick Chicago connection westward from Parkersburg, has taken a firm hold upon the traveling public, and is obtaining its ful quota of the public patronage. In point of time, its Western connections compare favorably with any route, while it many things it is superior to all other routes.

KURTZ RESTAURANTS.

Among the many permanent institutions of the city are the several restaurants of Mr. Fred. Kurtz, located at 23 New street, 60 Broadway, 76 Maiden lane and at the corner of Fifth avenue and Ninetieth street. Undoubtedly Kurtz excels all competitors in the conduct of a first-class eating house. Besides being thoroughly versed in stocking his store-rooms, he understands just how to please the general palate in the preparation of his dishes. Success is the best test of merit, especially in this business; and if Kurtz merit is to be so tested, he stands pre-eminent over all other Each of the above places will accommodate from one to two hundred persons, and all of them, at almost any hour of the day, are filled. Strangers, visitors and residents will find Kurtz' the most satisfactory, as well as cheapest, first-class eating establishments in the city; while those who visit Central Park should not fail to call at the new and elegant retreat at the corner of Ninctieth street.

QUARTERLY MEETING.

radomer noprem nolle by strips of paper, properly stamped and signed, than by gold or any other metal.

In the next place, these strips of paper, signed by the government, with the credit and wealth of the whole country, are better than individual promises; though the issuance of individual promises should not and need not be prohibited, as we do not now prohibit anybody from making or receive ing private notes, drafts and checks.

Again, the government money need not be redeemable, but only convertible into new strips of paper when the old ones are worn out, and into commodies when they are used in trade, and into other government securities bearing interest, as I have pointed out.

Still again, money has also been held to be a correct measure of values. This it ought to be, indeed, but has never been so, because it has never been measured itself. Of what use would yard-sticks be, used for measuring cloth, but which had never themselves been measured by anything? The system which I have stated for measuring money itself is believed to be perfect. It is not the individual dollar, relatively to the half dollar or the hundred dollars, that has failed to be measured or fixed, but the rate of increase relatively to other values, of all the government currency afloat. By the convertibility of any excess of issue sinking its value below a certain standard into interest-paying bonds, any over-issue is immediately absorbed, while a deficiency of issue will be revealed by the fact that absolutely no bonds be sold. In this manner the whole operation will be selfadjusting from day to day; the value of the aggregate of government money will be accurately measured and kept uniform; and any interest or temptation which the government might have to an over-issue would be immediately neutralized by the absorption of such surplus into bonds. upon which the government itself would be paying interest; or, in other words, assuming an unnecessary and useless burden, in the face of the people and of its own economies. Can anything more perfect be devised? If so, let us have it by all means; if not, let this device be adopted. A self-adjusting, self-regulating admeasurement of the value of money would make it a true measure of other values, and is a suggestion which, if it can be secured, is of unequaled importance.

Another somewhat similar idea was glanced at in passing that of a definite method of determining scientifically the equitable rate of interest. This I cannot stop now to explain. It will, however, only be when we come quite down to that basis, that the full value of this financial system will be experienced.

Finally, in its basis, this system of government money is money issued at the mere cost of printing and circulating; but by adjoining with it the idea of a complete, simple and exceedingly economical means of raising the revenue of the country, the three or four per cent. is paid to the treasury; that is to say, by the people individually to the same people in their collective capacity. Under this system all the various revenue officials and tax assessors and gatherers would be dispensed with, and a vast system of economy inaugurated which in a few years would transpose us from a clously as the citizens of Pompeii and Herculaneum in that borrowing to a loaning nation, making us the financial ex- awful moment that preceded the belching forth of Vesaample for all the world. This it also seems to me is another invaluable feature of the system, all of which I, however, respectfully submit to the decision of the people.

The interests of humanity which are involved in this question are greater than are the interests of those who have as- for $1.50. Liberal terms given to agents. sumed to rule the world, and who are endeavoring to fasten upon the people despotism, to escape from which would re-or rather weare and Mileneth street. Cudonologic Kurty excels all competitors in the conduct of a first-class eating house. Besides being thoroughly versed in stocking his store-rooms, he understands just how to please the general palate in the preparation of his dishes. Success is the best test of merit, especially in this business; and it Kurtz merit is to be so tested, he slands pre-eminent over all other Each of the above places will accommodate from one to two hundred persons, and all of them, at almost any hour of the day, are filled. Strangers, visitors and residents will find Kurtz' the most satisfactory, as well as cheapest, first-class cating establishments in the city, while those who visit Central Park should not fail to call at the new and elegant retreat at the corner of Ninetieth street.

QUARTERLY MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Meeting will be held under the auspices of the Indiana State Association of Spiritualists at Oxford, Benton Co., Indiana, commencing Friday, September 12th, 1878, at 71 o'clock P. M., and continuing over Sunday. Come one and all.

If any of the friends, on arrival at the depot, are not met by the Committee of Arrangements, they will proceed at once to the Ohio House, or Treasurer's office, where they will be cared for.

J. R. BUELL,

Secretary of Indiana State Association of Spiritualists,

THE undersigned, feeling that the times are ripe for a social club in this city, invites those who are of like mind to communicate with her, with a view to securing a suitable place for weekly meetings, for mutual improvement and social enjoyment, and with a hope of ultimately organizing a unitary home. Address, E. M. BECKWATH, Station D.

HEALING by laying on hands, at 97 Clinten Place, by L. A. Edminster, of Boston. All female diseases successfully treated; the best of reference can be given.

Patients visited at their homes, or treated by Magnetic Conductors. No medicine used.

Terms $2.00 each treatment; office hours from 9 to 11 A. M., and 2 to 5 P. M. Send stump for return letter.

APPROACHING CONFLICT

The irrepressible issues between universal liberty and despotism to precipitate a terrible war within five years that will terminate in the overthrow of the American Republic and the establishment of a military dictatorship.

Church, State and Capital are combined, under the leadership of the Republican party, to precipitate the conflict that will end in a defeat of their aspirations, and the ultimate triumph of industry, socialism and rationalism.

The nation is slumbering upon the brink of rain as uncon-

The most astounding foreshadowing of the future destiny of this nation ever issued from the press.

A book of 250 pages will be sent to any address, post-paid, Address, JOHN WILLCOX. 172 and 174 Clark street, Chicago, III. gold or any other metal.

In the next place, these strips of paper, signed by the government, with the credit and wealth of the whole country, are better than individual promises; though the issuance of individual promises should not and need not be prohibited, as we do not now prohibit anybody from making or receiving private notes, drafts and checks.

Again, the government money need not be redeemable. but only convertible into new strips of paper when the old ones are worn out, and into commodies when they are used in trade, and into other government securities bearing interest, as I have pointed out.

Still again, money has also been held to be a correct measure of values. This it ought to be, indeed, but has never been so, because it has never been measured itself. . Of what use would yard-sticks be, used for measuring cloth, but which had never themselves been measured by anything? The system which I have stated for measuring money itself is believed to be perfect. It is not the individual dollar, relatively to the half dollar or the hundred dollars, that has failed to be measured or fixed, but the rate of increase relatively to other values, of all the government currency affoat. By the convertibility of any excess of issue sinking its value below a certain standard into interest-paying bonds, any over-issue is immediately absorbed, while a deficiency of issue will be revealed by the fact that absolutely no bonds be sold. In this manner the whole operation will be selfadjusting from day to day; the value of the aggregate of government money will be accurately measured and kept uniform; and any interest or temptation which the government might have to an over-issue would be immediately neutralized by the absorption of such surplus into bonds. upon which the government itself would be paying interest; or, in other words, assuming an unnecessary and useless burden, in the face of the people and of its own economies. Can anything more perfect be devised? If so, let us have it by all means; if not, let this device be adopted. A self-adjusting, self-regulating admeasurement of the value of money would make it a true measure of other values, and is a suggestion which, if it can be secured, is of unequaled importance.

Another somewhat similar idea was glanced at in passing -that of a definite method of determining scientifically the equitable rate of interest. This I cannot stop now to explain. It will, however, only be when we come quite down to that basis, that the full value of this financial system will be experienced.

Finally, in its basis, this system of government money is money issued at the mere cost of printing and circulating; but by adjoining with it the idea of a complete, simple and exceedingly economical means of raising the revenue of the country, the three or four per cent. is paid to the treasury; that is to say, by the people individually to the same people in their collective capacity. Under this system all the various revenue officials and tax assessors and gatherers would be dispensed with, and a vast system of economy inaugurated which in a few years would transpose us from a borrowing to a loaning nation, making us, the financial example for all the world. This it also seems to me is another invaluable feature of the system, all of which I, however, respectfully submit to the decision of the people.

The interests of humanity which are involved in this question are greater than are the interests of those who have ass for $1.50. Liberal terms given to agents. sumed to rule the world, and who are endeavoring to fasten upon the people despotism, to escape from which would re-

Acces an compensors in the conduct of a first class cating house. Besides being thoroughly versed in stocking his store-rooms, he understands just how to please the general palate in the preparation of his dishes. Success is the hest test of merit, especially in this business; and it kurtz merit is to be so tested, he stands pre-eminent over all other Each of the above places will accommodate from one to two hundred persons, and all of them, at almost any hour of the day, are filled. Strangers, visitors and residents will find Kurtz! the most satisfactory, as well as cheapest, first-class eating establishments in the city; while those who visit Central Park should not fail to call at the new and elegant retreat at the corner of Nineticth street.

QUARTERLY MEETING.

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Meeting will be held under the auspices of the Indiana State Association of Spiritualists at Oxford, Benton Co., Indiana, commencing Friday, September 12th, 1873, at 7½ o'clock P. M., and continuing over Sunday. Come one and all.

If any of the friends, on arrival at the depot, are not met by the Committee of Arrangements; they will proceed at once to the Ohio House, or Treasurer's office, where they will be cared for.

J. R. BUELL,

Secretary of Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.

THE undersigned, feeling that the times are ripe for a social club in this city, invites those who are of like mind to communicate with her, with a view to securing a suitable place for weekly meetings, for mutual improvement and social enjoyment, and with a hope of ultimately organizing a unitary home. Address, E. M. BECKWITH, Station D.

HEALING by laying on hands, at 97 Clinton Place, by L. A. Edminster, of Boston. All female diseases successfully treated; the best of reference can be given.

Patients visited at their homes, or treated by Magnetic Conductors. No medicine used.

Terms $2.00 each treatment; office hours from 9 to 11 A. M., and 2 to 5 P. M. Send stamp for return letter.

APPROACHING CONFLICT-

The irrepressible issues between universal liberty and despotism to precipitate a terrible war within five years that will terminate in the overthrow of the American Republic and the establishment of a military dictatorship.

Church, State and Capital are combined, under the leadership of the Republican party, to precipitate the conflict that will end in a defeat of their aspirations, and the ultimate triumph of industry, socialism and rationalism.

The nation is slumbering upon the brink of ruin as unconciously as the citizens of Pompeii and Herculaneum in that awful moment that preceded the belching forth of Vesu-

The most astounding foreshadowing of the future destiny of this nation ever issued from the press.

A book of 250 pages will be sent to any address, post-paid,

Address, John Whacox, 172 and 174 Clark street, Chicago, III. quire the shedding of whole rivers of human blood and the destruction of the best evidences of our civilization, for which we have a perfect right to feel the greatest admira-

A timely understanding of the money question would the common brotherhood of the human race, toward which

BUSINESS EDITORIALS.

RAILROADS AND THEIR APPOINTMENTS.

railroad lines which connect the Metropolis of America with the great West-north and south. The chief end that seems to have been aimed at is speed, and some roads have been so absorbed in this as to have entirely overlooked the matter of comfort, which to all but persons traveling on business purely, is an important item. One of the main

There are various opinions regarding the several great end all reform should be directed.

ED FROM PAGE 7.(

t all national banks, though nomia common fountain-head in govheir currency come from govern-

inks, instead of being independent guarantee precisely the reverse of all this, and cause humananized system, having a common ity to take still greater and more rapid strides toward that v York city virtually have in the perfect enlightenment which can alone thoroughly recognize t that be a condition so nearly re-need that there should be a new o bring such a currency home to never was a system operated in rtionate loss through its executive would be required as to show its system. And this is because the to the people. The postmaster is place in which he officiates, and, vil service law, should be the apm he is to serve; and, of course, ing their special confidence. To of the public money well be inxcept cities a single person could f postmaster and of United States lines at least, and we think two, and they the so-called sed to make all post-offices offices popular lines, have been wonderfully negligent in some Il post-office stamps and moneythings of great value to the general public. There is, however, one route West, the Baltimore and Ohio, which has ny only purpose has been to en given special attention to all the requirements of the traveler understanding of the most im-—speed, comfortable cars and well-managed eating-houses, ental justice and uniform equitywhich last is a cause of great complaint upon some other roads that make greater pretensions than this route makes. Its management works in a quiet, unostentatious manner, past systems have failed to secure antly witnessed the proceeds of gregated in the hands of the few. class has possessed over another and, especially since completing its new and quick Chicago he rapid spread of intelligence connection westward from Parkersburg, has taken a firm generation; and it behooves this ration to any scheme which pro-ie idea of money must first bo intrinsic value of gold, or any aed to the mere capacity of rep-

and so of facilitating the ex-quota of the public patronage. In point of time, its Western ge. And most especially does it connections compare favorably with any route, while in ople, if there be such a thing as many things it is superior to all other routes. them out and cause them to be

KURTZ RESTAURANTS. Among the many permanent institutions of the city are the several restaurants of Mr. Fred. Kurtz, located at 23 IOWA SPIRITUALIS'

The Spiritualists of Iowa will hold Convention, at their Hall, in Walnut str Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October mencing at 10 o'clock A. M.

Good speakers will be in attendance good test medium. The friends at Des care of visitors. So come on, all friends of the cause, and everybody else, and let us make worthy of our good cause.

J. Swain, Sec'y. DES MOINES, Iowa, August 20, 1873.

QUARTERLY MEETING N

The first quarterly meeting of the Woman's Emancipation Society will be h salist Church, in Parkman, commencing 6, at 10 A. M., to continue two days. D.

Cowles, Sarah L. S. Philleo, J. H. Phil and others will address the meeting. The platform will be free to opponents will not be diverted from the objects to is devoted—namely, "The absolute fr hrough the overthrow of the popular sys Friends expecting to come on the car that Garretsville, on the Mahoning bran and Great Western Railroad, is the nea hack from Garrettsville to Parkinan (6 m) trains both east and west, which meet 9 л. м. The Free Lovers of Parkman will ent hold upon the traveling public, and is obtaining its full from a distance to the fullest extent of th By order of the Executive Committee, FRAN

A NEW HYGIENIC INSTITU

We call the attention of our readers to (in another column) of "Champion Curo Into Vat Carvorevilla Buste, i